Friday Morning, Dec. 9, 1859.

only Ten Cents a Week.-The Daily Intelligencer will be delivered to any part of the city or suburbs at ten cents a SLIPPERY .- Yesterday morning the air was frosty as in mid-winter. The sidewalks were very slippery, and many an unexpected fall was occasioned by the condition of the steps leading from the dwellings and shops. Everybody that had furs was wrapped up in them as they proceeded down town, and those who hadn't, wished they had, or adopted some warm substitute. Mittens, gloves, thick boots, overcoats, shawls, woolen scarfs and worsted comforters were all in use yesterday, and still the red noses, frost-bitten ears, pouting lips and chattering teeth told the story of the cold morning. Middle aged the street junctions, battled for the maintainance of equilibrium, and finally closed in a vain attempt to avoid a universal fall. During the day the sum came out and walking became less risky.

BOT A DESPERATE DISEASE AND A DES-PERATE REMEDY .- On returning home from the office, at a late hour, night before last. we came upon a poor, whisky-ridden devil who was lying up against a board fence, on Market street, literally freezing to death. A party of gentlemen, highly perfumed with a very mean article of whisky, came up, and after expressing very warm symnathy for the poor inebriate, proposed to strike a match, and set his ragged clothing on fire, with a view of rousing the old fellow up. This did not seem sufficiently barbarous for one of the party, who drew from his pocket a pint bottle, and drenched the patient with about half of it, after which they all took hold of him and rushed up and down the street till he began to show signs of life. They then started off with the old chap, all on a dead run, and shortly afterwards we heard him howling as loud and as lustily as the loudest.

TEN CHANTICLEER ON A MERRY RIDE. - We saw, yesterday afternoon, an empty sugar trough floating down the river, in which there stood, erect and dignified, a bob tailed rooster-perhaps, the veritable "cock that crowed in the morn." As he did not stop, we had no opportunity to inquire as o his destination or how he came to choose such a remarkable and hazardous mode of traveling. His changeful, speckled plumes were somewhat ruffled, and his appearance bore evidence that his jonrney was not one of pleasure, but rather of accident. Some little boys watched the old moster and his frail bark, which they say came in collision with a similar craft near the shore and that the solitary passenger bopped out and made tracks for dry land.

THE Daily Onion has another splenetic article about us, in its issue of yesterday morning. Our greatest desire is to have nothing to do with it. Owing to recent events, the price of powder has somewhat advanced, and that combustible material is now too high to shoot snipes. We are in a pretty prosperous condition, to be sure, but we are not extravagant. Besides, the Onion has subsided into a comparatively good-humored and magnanimous screnity, now, and anything like a severe shot from our locker would scatter its peelings and set it railing and stinking sgain like "an enraged fishwoman."

PEDISTRESSING ACCIDENT .- Yesterday, ter of David Boughman, an employee of the Company, sat down upon a piece of hot metal, from which her clothing caught fire. Her screams soon attracted the attention of the father who ran to her assistance, but being, of course, much excited could not extinguish the flames as speedily as might have been. The little girl was terribly injured, the surface of her entire person being burned into a crisp. It is thought she will not recover. Mr. Bough_ man in his efforts to save his child, had his hands badly burned lorse THIEF .- On Monday of last week a young man named Williams was arrested in Cambridge, on the charge of horse stealing. It appears that he stole a horse from Muttontown, Washington County, Pa. He took the animal from a church yard while the owner was at church, and did not know to whom he belonged. After detaining him sometime, awaiting the arrival of the owner, the thief was dis-

FOT THE RIVER is almost as big, now, as it has been for a year. There were nearly twenty-six feet in the channel, last evening, and the water rushed down, lashing the frail banks and foaming with a perfect fury. The middle of the stream was literally black with drift wood, saw-logs, hen coops, and so forth. There was little doing at the landidg, beyond the bustle occasioned by the regular local packets.

MR. WILSON'S LECTURE, a report of which will be found in another column, drew together an audience that filled the Fourth Street Church. It was an elegant and instructive discourse, and was listened to with eagerness by the very intelligent audience. Mr. W. will lecture in Pittsburgh next week. We learn that he is ready to comply with invitations to lecture from other points.

CUTTING RAILROAD CAR SEATS .-Uriah H. Nace, the scamp that cut the seats of the Central Ohio Railroad cars, some time ago, has been arrested. Nace had, for several days succeeded in cluding the officers, but was finally overhauled at Williamsberg, Noble county, and brought in, a victim to the malicious bump of destructiveness.

CONGRESSIONAL. WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. SENATE .- Mr. Slidell, of Louisana, gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill making an appropriation to facilitate the negotiations for the acquisition of Cuba. Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee, gave a similar notice of his intention to introduce a homestead bill.

Several other notices were given, one for the construction of a railroad on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mr. Mason's (Virginia) resolutions came up for consideration.

Mr. Trumbull, of Illinois, resumed his remarks, showing the importance of in-quiry relative to the sacking of the Arsenal at Liberty, Mo. The seizure of an Arsenal recently, is regarded as a matter of great importance, yet the President in his message, never alluded to the seizure of the Arsenal in Missouri. A resolution was adopted in March 1856, calling on the President for all the information in the Departments, relative to the affairs of Kansas; yet the report of Capt. Leonard had never been sent to the Senate. He thought the gentlemen were entirely mistaken as to the principles or views of the Republicans, and he would endeavor to enlighten them in a calm and candid man-He did not like to hear them use the Ford South in this matter. Not more than one-twentieth of the people of the South are slaveholders, and that class should not arrogate to themselves that they are the South, and the exclusion of slavery from the Territories operates on all alike. hern men will have no more right to carry slaves there than Southern men. The Republican party had its origin in uestion of slavery in the Territories .-This Territorial question is not settled.— The Democratic party had unsettled it. He went on to allude to the term Black Republicans, which had been used. Mr. Yulee said the term Republican hav ng been consecrated by the Father of his Country, a sectional party had no right to appropriate it. He would not call them lack, but leave it to themselves.

Mr. Trumbull replied that they call themselves Republicans because they advocate the principles of Jefferson. If his party had made any departure from those principles, he would condemn such a departure. The fathers of the old Republican party were the models from whom their principles emanated; the very words platform to which the Senator from Florida had objected, were written by the and of Jefferson.

Mr. Yulce-To create, not to destroy a Free Government. Mr. Trumbull-Yes! We perpetuate the Government by maintaining the principles we advocate. The other party call themselves Democrats, when their legislation is all shaped for the interests of a slaveholding aristocracy, comprising only one out of sixty of the inhabitants of the United States.

Mr. Trumbull underwent a lengthy ross-examination on the part of Southern Senators. Mr. Johnson of Tennessee, obtained the

Mr. Davis, of Miss., rose to make a speech, when a running discussion occured on the pending question, whether it was relevant to make speeches, as the previous question had heretofore been demanded and seconded to cut off the discussion on Mr. Clark's resolution and Mr. Gilmer's substitute.

The Clerk subsequently rose to put the uestion as proposed, whether it was comctent for him to decide the question of order pending the election of Speaker. Mr. Millson, of Va., objected to a citizen elected by a former House, a subordinate officer, presiding over this body. Mr. Grow, of Pa., agreed with Mr. Millon. He would not favor a violation of the express law of Congress.

Maynard, of Tenn., differed from ooth of these gentlemen. The pionts of order were then with-

He insisted on a BOOTS, thick soled, so much admired by the La-strict observance of the Constitution, in strict observance of the Constitution, in order to secure to every section its just order to secure to every section its just equality and rights. It was the duty of all conservative and patriotic men to rally to the support of the Democracy, the only national party, to put down the abolition spirit. There was, notwithstanding what had been said to the contrary, great cause of alarm to the country, who should act instantly, or it will be altogether too late. should act Mr. Davis quoted from the speeches of Senator Seward, to show the dangerous sentiments he avowed, to distract the country and accomplish the overthrow of the South. To say the labor of the two scctions was conflicting and irreconcilable, was a declaration of war and hence the South were alarmed and looked to their defence. He earnestly appealed to all patriots to put down these treasonable designs. In alluding to the remarks heretofore made by Republicans, he said armed men have been sent to the South to kill their people and deprive them of their property. Could the South be patient un-der these circumstances? Could they be > (Applause from the Southern side.) Virginia has hung the traitor Brown and if they get hold of Seward they will hang (Laughter and applause.) Mr. Morris, of Pa., said that, occupying a perfectly independent position, he was at liberty to vote on all questions according to his sense of duty to his country. He was opposed to all unnecessary agitation of the subject of slavery, and did not wish to discuss it unless it came before them in a legitimate way. This wicked Adminis-tration had countenanced every act of violence and fraud on the poople of Kanas, and brought into Congress a constitution fraudulent from beginning to end, and which would not stand the test of an examination. His friend (Mr. Sherman) had stood nobly firm for the rights of the people against the government-standing up for law and order, concord and peace, and or this the gentleman should have his vote as long as there was any probability of his election. What had the House to do with Helper's book? Were they, as a college of Jesuits, to expunge the literature of the book, and were they to act as censors of every incendiary work? It was a most extraordinary proceeding.

Mr. Moore, of Ala., knew there were men n the North as true to the Constitution as those of the South, and when it was said there was in the North no sympathy for John Brown, it was a libel. The papers of the North were full of demonstrations of sympathy, and some were in morrning for Brown. Mr. Greeley, a prominent organ of the Republican party, said in his paper that in future time Brown's name will be held in glory and honor. So far as he knew the sentiments of those he represented, he but expressed their deliberate convictions, when he said the success of a a dissolution of the union. If the Repub-lican party could be defeated, the union could be preserved; but if such a party was to succeed, the sooner the union is dissolved the better. The South were in the de-fensive. On that occasion the venerable Jno. Adams was elected as Chairman until a Speaker was elected. It had been his fortune to witness here every one of the crisis to which reference had been made in debate. He was here during the nullifi-cation times and in 1850. If the gentlenan could now summon to their aid the calm cause which animated gentlemen in hose times all unpleasant feelings would be removed. No. Cxv.] [DECEMBER.]

THE present number commences the twentieth volume of HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE. In the introductory notice prefixed to the first number, the publishers announced their intention to present a periodical 'which no one who had the alightest relish for miscellaneous reading, or the slightest wish to keep himself informed of the progress and results of the literary genius of his own age, would willingly be without. And they intend to publish it at so low a rate, and to give it a value so much beyond its price, that it shall make its way into the hands or the family circle of every intelligent citizen of the United States.'

As an illustrated Magazine, HARPER'S is wholly As an illustrated Magazine, HARPER'S is wholly without a rival. The volumes already published have contained more than six thousand engravings, most of them executed in the highest style of the art, from original drawings by Dopler, Parsons, Hitchcock, Fredericks, Wallin, Thwaites, Hoppin, Chapin, Lossing, Voight, Bellew, McLenan, Strother, Hooper, Pallas, and other artists. For these the Magazine.

Fredericks, Wallin, Thwaites, Hoppin, Chapin, Lossing, Yoight, Bellew, McLenan, Strother, Hooper, Pallas, and other artists. For these the Magazine has paid not less than one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. The cost of its literary contributions has considerably exceeded this amount. HARPER'S MAGAZINE has, therefore, in less than ten years, paid more than a quarter of a million of dollars to American authors and artists.

The publishers gratefully acknowledge that this large outlay has been remnnerative beyond their most sanguine expectations. They hoped from the first that the Magazine would "make its way into the hands or family circle of every intelligent citizen of the United States," but the number of these readers has proved for greater than they anticipated. They believe that the circulation of the Magazine will continue to increase with the groth and population of the country. For the spirit and manner in which it will hereafter be conducted, they can offer no better quarantee than the contents of the volumes already issued.

While the Magazine will continue to be syntained.

heretofore offered you.

First—It is the prepuration of a regular physician, who is well qualified from much experience in infantile complaints to prescribe for them. Secondly—It is cutirely free from paragoric or opiate of any kind, and consequently relieves by removing the suffering of your child, instead of deadening its sensibilities.—Thirdly—It is put up with great care, as a comparison of it with any other srticle for infantile complaints will show; the very root from which it is distilled being dug from the forest under the direction of Dr. Exton. many of them by his own hunds. Fourtile, and will show; the very root from which it is distilled being dug from the forest under the direction of Dr. Eaton, many of them by his own hands. Pourthly—it is perfectly harmless and cannot injure the most delicate infant, and is a certain cure and relief in all the following cases, which is its chief merit over every other preparation, viz:

FOR ALL COMPLAINTS ATTENDING TRETH-ING; such as DYSENTERY COLIC, &c.; also, for softening the gums and relieving pain. For regulating the bowels it is unequalled. For Cold in the Head it is a sure relief. For CROUP, the most fatal and trying of all diseases, it can be relied on with perfect confidence; and being a powerful anti-spassmode in all cases of convulsions or fits, we carnestly recommend you to loose no time in procuring it. Lastly—it costs so much more than other preparations of the kind, that we cannot afford such long advertisement as can those whose whole expense is their advertising; for the same reason, it commends itself as the most relied to the same reason, it commends itself as the most relied to the preparation of the kind, that we cannot afford such long advertisement; for the same reason, it commends itself as the most relied to the same reason, it commends itself as the most relied to the same reason, it commends itself as the most relied to the perfections wrapped around each bottle, must be strictly followed.
